

War Paint Statue Project Receives Parker/United Foundation Contribution

The Pendleton Round-Up & Happy Canyon Hall of Fame War Paint Statue Project was recently honored to receive a generous contribution of $12,500 as a "Kick Off" donation for the War Paint Statue Project from RH Parker/United Foundation.

War Paint is considered one of the greatest bucking horses in the world of rodeo. The statue of War Paint will feature a Severe Saddle used by Casey Tibbs when he rode War Paint, as well as one of the Silver Halters War Paint won as National Bucking Horse of the Year.

It is fitting that the RH Parker/United Foundation be our first contributor for the War Paint statue. In many ways, thanks to the War Paint kiosk project funded by their Foundation several years ago, the Hall of Fame has been able to launch a multi-faceted series of events centered around War Paint ultimately resulting in the current War Paint statue project.

Those in attendance for presentation of the contribution included: War Paint Statue Co-Chairs – Mary French West & Patricia Dawson; United Finance Pendleton Branch – Cyndi Zamudio; RH Parker/United Foundation - Rick Parker and Hall of Fame President – Carl Culham.
